

Presentation Reflection

Weekly Report 13

11/26 - 12/2

In this past week, my main focus was on finalizing a plan for my original work and continuing to make frequent calls to professionals in consulting that would be willing to have interviews about their jobs.

My first idea for my original work was to create a pamphlet with a website that would outline how to create a successful Strategy Consulting LLC, however, through further delving, it was realized that instead of a pamphlet and website, a business plan for a Strategy Consulting LLC would be the most efficient and effective way to combine my research and knowledge into something that people in the community can benefit from. The business plan will be created using elements of numerous real, successful business plans from other consulting firms and LLCs. This will be accomplished using continued research and also advice from CEOs and founders of successful self-started LLCs which will help guide me through the process and offer me advice about the best decisions to make.

Currently, I have made 23 phone calls to numerous professionals that have led to two phone interviews with experienced consultants and an in-person interview on 12/7. When I did this review of my progress with informational interviews, it was a wake-up call that made me realize that I must call more professionals more frequently and continue to make new contacts until I can reach my goal of five total interviews before 12/21.
