

Final Practice

Weekly Report 30

4/22 - 4/29

During the past week, my primary focus was on preparing for my Final Product Presentation in class presentation. Although my final product is not yet completed it offered me a thorough understanding of where there are improvements to be made.

During my Original work presentation, my main struggle was with having a better flow to my presentation and keeping up my energy during the middle part of my presentation. With this advice, the main focus on my final product presentation was to avoid these issues, however, my issue with my final product presentation was that I did not memorize my conclusion and used two filler words. Fortunately, my presentation met the time requirement perfectly and allowed me enough space to add more detail about my final product once it is completed. The preparation for this presentation included changing my original work powerpoint, practicing my presentation and condensing all my research to fit the time frame.

My goal for next week is to finish ninety percent of my final product and complete my interviews with small business owners to finalize my strategic financial plan. By completing this it will allow me to add that information to my final product presentation and then become fully prepared for Final Presentation Night.
